Local Scientists Are Successful

Of all the many scientific expeditions sent out to various parts of the state and Mexico by several institutions to observe and photograph last Monday's noonday eclipse of the sun, it is claimed that the only one wholly successful was that which went from Carmel, headed by James H. Worthington and Dr. Alfred E. Burton.

The Carmel party is home again, enthusiastic over their achievement and feeling well repaid for their many months of exacting and laborious preparation.

While it is true that aviators, flying over San Diego, obtained pictures, they were not taken under circumstances that could compare to the carefully planned preparations of the Carmel expedition at Lompoc.

Nine aerial cameras, some of their delicate parts brought from England by Mr. Worthington, were set up by the local men. Some of them were designed for full time exposure; the others for snap-shots.

Although the expedition had been advertised, with the idea that the work could be accomplished without the distraction of a crowd, fully 10,000 spectators are said to have been present.

The photographs obtained were of the sun's corona and the wreath of hydrogen flames that became visible in a spectacular circle when the direct light was obscured. All the pictures are good. Some of them will take rank with the best solar eclipse photographs ever taken.

Watsonville Fair Unusual Affair

In one respect at least the Farm Bureau Fair, which is to be held in the Watsonville Civic Auditorium, September 25 to 30, will be unique. That is in the total absence of the catch-penny, near-gambling concessions which usually are regarded as necessary evils in similar expositions. For there will be not a concession that will not give its patrons full value for every penny spent and which will not actually conduce to the comfort and convenience of visitors.

This decision was not made because of any lack of demand by objectionable concessions for space. On the contrary, the decision will cost the fair association many thousands of dollars in easy revenue. Manager R. J. Parkinson believes the patrons will enjoy the unique experience of finding a "Farmers' Fair" that really is what its name indicates and where every foot of space is devoted to that which will be of interest and instruction, or that will minister to a normal desire for clean amusement.

Music and entertainment features galore will be provided every day of the fair, this feature being looked after by a committee of experts who are canvassing numerous possibilities for the best attractions to be obtained.

Popular Young Couple Married

The Presbyterian church in Monterey was the scene of the wedding of Miss Helen Hicks and George Schweninger last Sunday, Rev. T. J. Barkle officiating.

After the ceremony the couple, who were the recipients of many gifts, started on their honeymoon trip, which will take them to southern California and Mexico. They will reside here on their return.

Mrs. Schweninger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Waldo Hicks, long residents of this city. The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Schweninger. Ernest, his brother, is touring in the South Seas.

Merger Pact Will be Ratified

The most important matter argued and acted upon at the annual meeting of The Forest Theater corporation on Monday evening last was that of the proposed consolidation of that body with the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts.

By a majority vote of the twenty-four members present, after a debate of nearly two hours' duration, the proposition was carried. This is not the end of the matter, however. It will now be necessary for committees of both organizations to ratify the consolidation and to work out the details.

A board of directors, to function during 1923-24, was elected, as follows: Mrs. Susan C. Porter, Miss Blanche Tolmie, Miss Helena Conger, Perry Newberry, Dr. Alfred E. Burton, John B. Jordan, Herbert Heron, John N. Hilliard and W. T. Kibbler. This board will meet shortly to elect officers.

The finances of the organization are in a healthy condition. All obligations have been paid, and a substantial balance remains.

Big Smash in Banking Circles

Barney Segal is a native of New Jersey. Charley Berkey was born in the sovereign state of Illinois. Both, however, are loyal Californians, so much so that on Saturday they programmed to take in the celebration of California's birthday in San Francisco last Monday. They got there, too, but not without incident and accident en route.

Driving along in Charley's flivver, with plenty of water and gas, having coaled up at Gilroy, at about thirty between Redwood City and San Mateo, on the right side of the highway, the left side of their car was struck by an auto coming toward them out of the darkness. Wrecked!

When Charles awoke, he was suspended by his feet from the steering wheel, and a big Lincoln was bearing down on him in direct line with his head. By a supreme effort he extricated himself. Then he shouted at the top of his voice, "Barney! Barney!" No answer. It was dark, but eventually Barney was found reposing near a fence post, trying to strike a trial balance, shocked, but smiling.

After explanations to a traffic officer they continued on their way to the Fairmont.

Casualties: Rolling stock demolished. Charles, a decorated eye, hand lacerated and other bruises. Barney, feelings hurt; the thing that hit them was a Ford; why, oh why not, a Pike's Peak Chandler or a Cadillac?

Sudden Death of Charming Woman

Mrs. Ellen S. White, for many years, off and on, a resident of Carmel, where she had a host of friends in all walks of life, passed away, after a brief illness, last Sunday morning at Pine Inn.

Mrs. White was a dignified, refined lady, fond of the arts and devoted to her religion. She was a Christian Science practitioner and a member of the local church of that organization. She was a native of Massachusetts and the widow of Dr. Theodore Columbus White of Rochester, N. Y.

F. S. Macomber, an attorney of Rochester, is expected here shortly to take charge of the affairs of the deceased.

Roberts Plan to Be Discussed

The chairman of the State Highway Commission, Harvey M. Toy, having changed, it is reported, somewhat his contention that "the Carmel-San Simeon highway is nothing but a tourist road which would benefit less than a dozen families," has called a meeting of those interested, to be held at the state building in the San Francisco civic center, on Monday, September 24, at which time the matter will be gone over thoroughly and Supervisor J. L. D. Roberts' plan for changing the specifications to complete the entire road, instead of continuing under present plans, will be given an official hearing.

The call for the meeting is, in part, as follows:

"To those citizens, taxpayers and California interested in the building to completion that portion of the state highway system in the $40,000,000 bond issue of 1919, and known as the San Simeon-Carmel project:

and to the highway commission, through its chairman, Harvey M. Toy, granted a hearing, to meet with said commission on September 24, 1923, at 2 p.m. in the state building, civic center, San Francisco."

Roberts states that he is convinced of the active support of the entire coast section in his plan, and that, when the matter is thoroughly explained to Toy and his associates, they would concur in his plan.

J. F. Devendorf and W. L. Overstreet are the delegates from the Carmel Chamber of Commerce.

Eastern Artists Here Next Year

Pedro J. Lemos, director of the Stanford museum and art gallery, editor-in-chief of the School Arts Magazine, has been in Carmel for the past two weeks with his family, occupying the Faraway cottage on San Antonio avenue.

Mr. Lemos plans soon to build a studio and home on his property here and has taken the measurements during his stay toward building a home that will include all the trees on the property. The studio will include a crafts shop for making decorative tiles, an art which Mrs. Lemos has developed in a new way and for which she has found excellent materials in the locality.

As former director of the San Francisco Art Institute and author of "Print Methods," "Art Simplified," "The Tree in Art," "Design Principles of Beauty" and "Applied Art," considered the best seller among art texts, Mr. Lemos is known to art teachers and students in the United States and England. For the past three years he has headed the largest art summer sessions in Chicago. During 1924 he will direct a group of art teachers' study during a trip to Europe, and in 1925 plans to bring a large group of eastern art supervisors to Carmel for a course of study in design and decorative landscape work.

Having visited practically all the art colonies of the United States, Mr. Lemos asserts that Carmel offers a greater range of landscape compositions and color variations than any other location, and predicts that time will develop Carmel as America's artists' home center, because of its combination of climate and scenery.

The local public school, Sunset, will have a week's vacation next month, this to permit the teachers to attend institute.

Children's Reading Problem Solved

Many mothers who have desired to direct their children's reading that they may have a knowledge of all that is best and wholesome in the literature of all ages have welcomed Mrs. Olive Beaure Miller's "Book-house" in six volumes as an almost complete collection.

The books, which are being shown in Carmel by Miss Caroline L. Allen, are recommended by Miss Ruth Huntington, Sunset school trustee, as "very attractive and of great value in the home."

Spencer-Guichard United

Miss Maria Etna Guichard, sister of Miss Stella J. Guichard of this city, was wedded to Harry L. Spencer on the Guichard place, Ben Lomond, last week. The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
XLVI.—NEW MEXICO

AS ITS name implies, New Mexico's history is closely allied with Old Mexico. It was the Spanish who were its first explorers, De Vaca visiting this region in 1536 and Coronado four years later. The natives were the Pueblo Indians, although they are sometimes erroneously reputed to have been Aztecs as they were well advanced in the arts and had a comparatively high civilization. These Indians were conquered in 1598 by Juan de Onate and became subject to Spanish rule, being forced to work the mines and pay tribute. Missions were established and Santa Fe was founded about 1605.

Except for a period of ten years when the Indians revolted and maintained their independence, New Mexico remained under Spanish control until in 1821 Mexico gained its independence from Spain and New Mexico became a province of Mexico. Thus it remained until the outbreak of the Mexican war, when in 1846 Colonel Kearny marched from Fort Leavenworth with his troops, occupied Santa Fe and declared this region a part of the United States. By the Treaty with Mexico in 1848, the upper part of the state was formally ceded to the United States and the Territory of Mexico was organized in 1851, which reached from Texas to California.

Arizona was set off from New Mexico in 1863 and a few years later a portion was contributed to Colorado. Application for admission as a state started in 1850, but it was not until 1910 that New Mexico became the forty-seventh state.

New Mexico ranks fourth in size among the states with an area of 122,634 square miles, but is sparsely populated and accordingly has only three electoral votes for President.

THERE IS A RIGHT WAY TO REACH WRONG

Abuse is not argument. Recrimination is not remedy. No wrong was ever righted by calling names and the making of wild accusations. There are wrongs in this great land of ours. There is illiteracy, poverty, crime, intolerance. But calling names won't remedy such conditions. Call attention to the illiteracy. Admit the poverty and provide better opportunity, through education, for the poor to become self-supporting! Do away with crime through better laws, swifter justice, cutting red tape! Knock lack of patriotism on the head with reverence to the flag taught in school and Americanism taught everywhere! Fight intolerance with toleration, but combat none of these evils by calling names!

WE FLY, BUT MARS IS STILL ON THE JOB

The success of the experiment in determining how quickly a letter could be sent across America and back means a swift tightening up of the units of this country. While the headline writer who dubbed Carmel a "suburb of New York"—why not New York a suburb of Carmel, by the way?—was a little facetious, his idea wasn't so humorous as it would have been ten years ago.

In "The Bloom of Life," new book of Anatole France, the author has an aged character, speaking many years ago, predict the time when men would fly through the air in machines. When that time came there would be no more international boundaries, no more war, the whole world one united brotherhood, believed the old man.

Well, men do fly through the air, but that good, warless time hasn't come. Perhaps if the city manager of Paris would exchange a letter of greetings with the mayor of Berlin and the lord high mugwump of Timbuctoo would write to the viceroy of Venezuela, perhaps the "good time coming" would come.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

Co-operation is the life of a city. Antagonism is its death.

It is well for us to keep these facts in mind when we consider the affairs of Carmel. We all want community life. None of us want stagnation and death.

Of course we do not all think the same, and it is well that it is so. Diversity of thought and expression bring out the best and worst of every question that we have to consider.

The advocates of all sides having placed their views before the public, it then becomes the province of the people to judge as to which will conform most to their interests, and adopt that course.

It is then that co-operation creates, or antagonism destroys. It is then that we show up as loyal and progressive citizens, or as mere trouble makers.

Co-operation is greater than all of the seven wonders of the world.

Birney Adams to Dispense Oil

Birney W. Adams, old-time Carmelite, was in this city from San Jose last week. He it is who will manage the new automobile service station to be located on the northeast corner of San Carlos avenue and Sixth street.

It is announced that Adams has obtained a five-year lease on the station from T. B. Reardon and Fred Leidig, the owners.

Work is now under way on the ground, and it is probable that the building will be up about October 15th. M. J. Murphy is the contractor.

Car owners and drivers who are finicky about the kind of gas and oil they use will have their choice of all brands, and script for all kinds will be sold.

SIX SURE WAYS TO START A FOREST FIRE

1. MATCHES—Be sure your match is burning briskly when you throw it away in the woods. Of course, a match thinks—what's its head for?
2. TOBACCO—Throw your lighted cigarette and cigar stumps and glowing pipe ashes into the biggest heap of brush and needles you can find along the road or trail. Only 40 per cent of our forest fires are set by smokers.
3. MAKING CAMP—Build a big campfire, and place it as close to young trees or clumps of brush as possible. To make sure your fire will spread, build it on top of the pine needles.
4. BREAKING CAMP—Don't bother about your fire when you leave camp; the rain is SURE to put it out.
5. BONFIRES—Build as big a bonfire as you can, especially if it is dry and windy. If you build it close to a tree or rotten log it will burn long after you have left.
6. FIGHTING FIRES—If you see a forest fire don't bother to put it out or report it to the nearest ranger. Why should you worry about the destruction of the National Forests that Uncle Sam has created for your use and enjoyment and that of your children?

BUT—IF YOU DO ANY OF THESE THINGS IN A CALIFORNIA FOREST, BE PREPARED TO PAY $500 AND GO TO JAIL.

Objectionable Advertising is Under Fire

The desire of many organizations and individuals here and elsewhere to abolish undesirable and offensive billboard advertising is meeting with considerable success. Many large advertisers have taken a decided stand in the matter and have announced their intention to confine their publicity to newspapers, magazines and circulars sent through the mail. In this connection the following by The Spectator, published in the San Francisco Examiner, will be read with interest:

Thirteen civic organizations of New York City, it was recently announced, have undertaken to fight to restore and preserve the city's scenic beauty against the encroachment of billboards. This campaign is under the leadership of the Municipal Arts Association.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, former health commissioner of the city and at present United States Senator, recently expressed his opinion that billboards enclosing or partly enclosing vacant lots are a menace to public health. "All sorts of decaying animal or vegetable matter," he said, "which gives rise to disease are hidden from view and protected from removal by billboards."

"The plague of mosquitoes which gives apartment dwellers sleepless nights and frequently infects them with malarial fevers may have its origin in old tin cans partly filled with water and in noisome stagnant pools which collect in vacant spaces behind billboards."

"Billboards are often a screen for crime as well as disease; they are also frequently a menace to public safety; in storms they become weakened and when there is a severe storm they are likely to be thrown to the street."

"There can be no question that many of the signs are offensive to the sight and a source of irritation and discomfort, and it is particularly offensive to have these signs placed in the show places of a city, along parks and public squares."

I am opposed to all billboards and street or countryside display advertising.

My reason is that a city or a country is a place to live in, more than a place to transact business in. We would not deface the walls of our living rooms with placards about soap and ham; why should we allow our outdoor home to be uglified by them?

Billboards are of the same nature as the business of street hawkers and intrusive peddlers who thrust their wares upon you. They are nuisances.

It amounts to making money by offensiveness. Children get their way by crying and teasing, some women by nagging and petting, some men by sulking or bullying. The theory is: Make yourself a nuisance till you gain your end. It is not a commendable trait of human nature.

Advertising is a necessary part of business. It helps both buyer and seller. But it should be confined to those channels where it does not spoil higher and more important things than business. The law should restrict the enterprising advertiser from making the walls, fences and building sites of city streets unbecomingly, and from ruining the charm of rural landscape.

The next step in civilization should be the limiting of all outdoor display advertising to certain places set aside for that purpose; should be a distinct, conscious declaration of the right of the people to beauty and peace.

The billboard advertisers might say in answer to all this that they have a perfect right to advertise if they want to and those who own the vacant lots or other places and who allow the billboards to be set up might claim that they have a right to do as they please with their own property.

But every private right is limited by the public good in a civilized community, and the public has an undoubted right to preserve the attractiveness both of the city, state and country landscape.

We have been so intent, all of us, in making money and getting ahead that we have not realized that it is equally important to meet the claim of beauty, for beauty is not ornamental or a negligible thing, it is directly concerned with the welfare of the public and particularly with the development of children.

Discriminating STYLE and HIGH QUALITY, But No Additional Charge for Either

Mr. Nifty says wear

Stein Bloch
Smart Clothes

Words
Without Meaning—

For example—The word
"Exclusive."

It means nothing unless backed by a product, whose name means a whole lot. There are dozens of makes of men's clothing for which we prefer that some other store claim exclusive control in this city. But for Stein Bloch Smart Clothes we are not only glad but proud to claim exclusive representation.

A variety of models—such as THE SAXON, in patterns that are "exclusive" in the sense that they appeal to the man with discriminating taste.
